SCALE MODELS OF OLD ENGLISH FARM WAGGONS

BY H. R. WAITING

218 AN OLD COTSWOLD HARVEST WAGGON with detachable tail-board of rail type and early design, deep waisted body formed of curving timbers, the most difficult feature in the building of all old waggons. The wheels are straked and made tight and strong with special nails, the floor-boards are placed lengthwise over morticed crosskeys, in polished boxwood, with red mahogany front panel, 19in., scale 1 to 8

** This is a rare model, the original 18th Century waggon does not exist. Marshall in his "Rural Economy of the Western Counties", 1774, states that the Cotswold Waggon is the best agricultural carriage he has seen anywhere in England.

219 A NORTHAMPTON FARM WAGGON, slightly waisted, with planked floor running lengthwise, supported by crosskeys, morticed through the two "summers", the shafts are complicated in construction and of great strength; the body is built of walnut, birch, and boxwood and painted in red and blue, a type familiar in the hunting counties; the skidpan is of wrought steel welded from four parts, and is true to type, 17½in., scale 1 to 8

** Specimens of this type still exist, though in lessening numbers; the design is one of the very oldest in Harvest Waggon.

220 A WILTSHIRE HARVEST WAGGON entirely in polished boxwood, of single panel type, one plank on each side and no waist, made for the wide Downs with few hedges and no special necessity for turning in small spaces. With elaborate double straked wheels, representing a width of 5in., the iron work of very strong design. The floor consists of three planks over crosskeys; it is interesting to note that in this model, at least forty very accurate mortices have to be cut for these "keys", 19in., scale 1 to 8

** These rare double-straked wheels depict the craft of the wheelwright at its highest, most elaborate and expensive phase. Another point worthy of notice is the fine workmanship of the "ring and start" ironing of the shafts.

- 221 A SOMERSET HARVEST WAGGON in boxwood and sycamore, painted blue and red, the wheels of elm, sycamore and red lancewood. The body floored lengthwise on crosskeys, protruding some  $2\frac{1}{2}$  in. on each side, an unusual feature; the body has a slight waist; the outer rails are supported by heavy twisted iron stays, each stay having a curved grip welded to its top,  $18\frac{3}{4}$  in., scale 1 to 8
